AB 920: the California Solar Surplus Act of 2009

Clean Solar wanted to pass on some great news released from Sacramento yesterday. The governor signed into law, AB920. This bill requires the utilities to compensate a homeowner whose solar array produces more electricity during the year than the customer uses. Until now, if a homeowner's panels produced more energy than the home used in an entire year, the utilities got the excess for free. Starting today, the homeowner will be compensated at a wholesale rate for their excess production.
